

Yotel At London Heathrow Airport Offers The Comfort Of A Hotel For Between-Flight Breaks

by Ilona Kauremszky

Photo: © Yotel

Connecting in London and your flight arrived on time. Perfect.

Check the departures board for your connection and discover it's delayed eight hours. Not so perfect.

If you're connecting through London Heathrow Airport, make a beeline for Terminal 4 and book a stay at Yotel where pod-like "cabins" provide respite from the hustle and bustle of the airport.

The Austin Powers-like suites, bookable by the hour to accommodate connections of four hours or more, are furnished with crisp luxury linens, funky mood lighting, a three-piece en suite bathroom with a sizeable monsoon shower and a techno-wall with easy-push buttons for climate control.

Standard rooms feature a bunk-style bed a train sleeper car, while the premium cabins offer a retractable double bed. Twin premium cabins are furnished with oversized bunk beds. Tuck in for a few hours of sleep or settle in to watch television or surf the Internet via a complimentary WiFi connection. A Food-to-Go menu is on offer 24/7.

♥ ADD TO FAVORITES | ↻ SHARE | 🖨️ PRINT | Like 0 | Tweet 1 | February 8, 2013

Comments

0 comment(s)

Facebook social plugin